Christmas adoptions continuing

“The Randolph County Animal Shelter had a terrific response in our first week of our Free Pet Program. It was rewarding to see so many animals find homes during this holiday season,” according to volunteer Evelyn Smith.

The volunteers and workers at the Randolph County Animal Shelter stand ready through Christmas Eve to help dogs, puppies, cats and kittens find a forever home for Christmas.

Two of those adopted are Tiny and Dozier. Tiny, a three-month old Spaniel mix, now happily resides with her new loving family in Roanoke, according to Debbie Moncrief at the shelter.

Dozier, an adorable brindle Boxer mix, went home for Christmas with his new best friend Tesla that was also adopted at RCAS. He is shown with his new owners who live in Atlanta, Moncrief said.

The Free Pet Program will continue through Saturday,

Dec. 24. Hurry because many of the animals have been put on hold for Santa to pick up on Dec. 24, Smith said.

The Free Pet Program does not include cost of spay or neuter which is $32 for cats and $42 for dogs.

“We have had a lot of adoptions so far and have more lined up for this week,” Moncrief said adding “I have a feeling that we are going to have more this week for Christmas!
