

AA Roadmap for Families*

* Families are: Any persons who commit their time, energy and goodwill to promote success of children. Includes: parents, extended family members, foster parents, agency staff members, etc.

DESCRIPTION: Discover the AA Roadmap plan (Awareness, Aceptance, Actions) for practical strategies to adapt communication to meet the needs of different communication styles of children from elementary to high school and beyond.

This program utilizes DISC®, a self-assessment, created by communication experts and used internationally for over 40 years. Our program materials are based on the book "Different Children, Different Needs" by Dr. Charles F. Boyd and Robert A. Rohm, Ph.D. All participants will also receive a relationSHAPE™ Roadmap workbook and the opportunity to participate in interactive workshops and webinars.

OBJECTIVES:

- Identify your preferred communication style
- Understand the 4 styles which are keys to successful interactions
- Adapt your communication to the styles of others for more positive relationships

PROGRAM LEADER: The programs are taught by Linda Williams, an experienced DISC® facilitator. Linda has 30+ years working in the education field where she was the Supervisor of Communication and Supervisor of Curriculum and Instruction and holds an MA in Education.

relationSHAPE™ | www.RelationShape.Today
Communication Tools for Improving Relationships

Communication Strategies for Improved Understanding

You will learn and apply a new set of practical skills that will reduce misunderstandings and conflict, leading to more positive interactions.

DESTINATIONS ROADMAP:

