WHO WE ARE

At TruePani, we bring an innovation and modern approach to engineering consulting. We are an Atlanta-based, female-owned, team of civil and environmental engineers providing professional consulting services in the areas of water, clean technologies, and transportation. Our founders met in 2015 as co-workers in a water quality lab at Georgia Tech and began TruePani in 2016. Our team shares a passion for intersecting engineering, public health, community engagement, and project management.
