

General Assistance Program (GAP)

The General Assistance Program (GAP) helps the Natural Resources Department to plan, develop, and establish environmental protection programs. Currently, the department is in the process of doing so in terms of water quality and nonpoint source pollution. To learn more about the General Assistance Program, please visit the EPA's website.