

A Master Plan for Aging Local Convening

TRANSFORMING THE EXPERIENCE OF AGING

IN SANTA BARBARA COUNTY

Thursday, October 12, 2023, 8:30 am — 2:00 pm
Santa Ynez Valley Marriott, 555 McMurray Road, Buellton

Please save the date for Santa Barbara County’s second Master Plan for Aging event, where we will share progress to-date and launch the next phase of action planning.

The purpose of this event is to activate the collaboration and community engagement needed to transform the experience of aging in Santa Barbara County, with a special focus on building age-friendly communities and ensuring that we have a strong foundation for “Caregiving that Works.” We will also celebrate grants received and the new possibilities they offer.

To register for this event, visit www.SBCMPA.com. If you need an accommodation to attend, please contact jgriffin@ilrc-trico.org.

Why a Master Plan?

California's population is aging. Ten years from now, one out of every four Californians will be older adults. They will live longer and be more diverse. Many will work longer, live alone, and have less economic security. This demographic change brings challenges and opportunities in housing, health, inclusion, caregiving, and affordability—and the Master Plan provides a 10-year strategy to help communities meet them. Every individual and sector has an important role to play. Learn more at mpa.aging.ca.gov.
