Modern Ways of Working Project

You may have read or received a communication from Derbyshire County Council regarding the implementation of their Modern Ways of Working Project.

This relates to county council employees who are currently working from home but are usually office based.

UNISON has been briefed on the intentions of the process and we have a number of unanswered questions.

We are due to meet with the employer this week to receive a further presentation of the proposals and likely next steps. This will help us more fully understand exactly who the proposals impact upon and how. Following this consultation, we will seek further views from members. So keep an eye out for a survey from UNISON in your inbox over the next few days.

The proposals could have a major impact on many staff, although, of course, we are not yet in a position to expand on this.

Current members can rest assured that UNISON will be insisting on full consultation and for no rushed or haphazard decisions to be made by the council.

Throughout the process we will be keeping members informed.
