

FILTER STRIP

Strips of grasses trees and/or shrubs slow water flow and cause contamination like sediment, chemicals and nutrients to collect in vegetation. Collected nutrients and chemicals are used by the vegetation, rather than entering water supplies. Filtered water then enters water bodies.

Vegetation prevents contamination from entering water bodies, protecting water quality.

