

Hazard, Georgia

Georgia M. Hazard, 90, of Elkton died Wednesday evening, Nov. 29, 2000, at the Huron County Medical Care Facility, Bad Axe. She was born Jan. 11, 1910, at the home of her parents, the late Nelson and Sadie (King) Walrod in Verona Township. Georgia was united in marriage to Lee Hazard on Oct. 30, 1936, in Flint. He preceded her in death on June 27, 1968. They farmed in Colfax Township until 1954 when they purchased the Dr. Monroe home at the corner of Mill and Wright and operated Wayside Nursing Home until 1968. After Mr. Hazard's death she moved to Clark Street and opened Hazard Foster Care Home, operating it until her retirement in 1982. Surviving are her daughter, Cheri Kula and her husband, Tony, of Calhoun, Ga.; her son, Edward Hazard of Phoenix, Ariz.; four grandchildren, Jeff, Tonda, Dale and Rick; four great-grandchildren, Alissa, Brynn, Jennifer and Nathan; her brother, Ervin Walrod and his wife, Zora, of Gagetown; and a sister, Lydia Armstead and her husband, Roy, of Bad Axe. She was preceded in death by a sister, Ina Ellen Walrod; and a brother, William Walrod. Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. today, Dec. 1, 2000, at the Champagne Funeral Chapel, Elkton. The Rev. DeWeerd Smith will officiate with burial in Colfax Township Cemetery, Bad Axe.
