Re: Docket No. L-21088A-19-0309-00185; 174 Power Global's Support of Ten West Link

Dear Commissioners:

Hanwha Energy USA Holdings Corporation d/b/a 174 Power Global ("174 Power Global") is based in Irvine, California, and is an affiliate company of Hanwha Group, a global company ranked 261st on the 2018 Fortune Global 500 list with annual revenues of US$63 billion and total assets of US$186 billion. 174 Power Global, along with our affiliated companies, is focused on making solar energy competitive for a cleaner and sustainable future, benefiting all partners that are involved. Possessing knowledge and resources on all sides of the solar industry, we closely work with our partners to create success.

174 Power Global is developing an approximately 3,200 MW solar generation and energy storage project in the western Arizona. We have filed a Large Generation Interconnection request to connect our proposed generation facility to the proposed Ten West Link 500 kV transmission line project (Ten West). The development of this renewable energy project will bring significant economic development and tax revenues to the western Arizona.

174 Power Global supports the Ten West Link project and the proposed route for this line. Ten West and its proposed route allows for additional development of solar and other renewable resources, in a resource-rich region of great development potential but limited current opportunities to connect to the electricity grid. Finally, the Project provides economic benefits to the area through development and future job potential.
