

Future of Trump Presidency Scenario Game Monthly Newsletter

From the Quantum Planning Group

The election of Donald Trump as President may cause you fear, worry, anxiety or even euphoria. None of those are good emotional states of mind with which to make important decisions or to manage your investments. We are providing an essential addition to the Scenario Game in the form of a newsletter that will allow you to lower any stress and “learn your way forward,” and thereby reduce your chances of making big mistakes (or missing opportunities). Here is what the newsletter will contain:

- Twelve monthly updates with links to key news articles that back up how we see the directions Trump is moving in on our scenario game board.
- A list of key early indicators that we think can be helpful in anticipating key shifts in Trump Administration policies in key areas affecting the economy.
- A six month update of the scenario game board with an additional wildcard scenario which we think will be visible once the Trump Administration begins to take action.
- Special reports on what we are learning from people around the world who play the scenario game.
