

Steve Puls

Steve Puls is a nationally accredited educator, professional developer, and customer success manager. In his 30 years in education, he has worked with thousands of teachers, administrators and other key stakeholders in creating turn-key solutions steeped in educational best practices. Steve has a keen sense of seeing the potential in people and derives satisfaction when they are successful in learning new skills, practices, and dispositions. He has delivered trainings domestically and internationally.

Steve has forged partnerships with Microsoft, eInstruction, and interRAI to use innovative tools and processes to work with diverse audiences in education, healthcare, and SaaS companies.

For the last 5 years, Steve has been working in the corporate world, in healthcare and SaaS industries. He has extensive experience onboarding new hires, new customers, and building effective teams.

Currently, Steve is employed by GoTo Technologies, and enjoys working with his global customers to maximize their investments in the company's remote access and communications solutions.

Steve served on the Foundation Board from 2016-2019 and returned to serve again on 2-1-2023.