Rappelling Rules and Assumption of Risk

The Coalmont Fire Department High Angle Rescue Team(hereinafter referred to as CFDHART) will exercise every possible precaution in regard to your safety while you are in our care. However, rappelling has some risks involved.

The primary concern of your CFDHART instructor will be your safety! There are several rules you should be aware of. First, heed and immediately obey any instructions you are given. Other rules include:

No smoking on rocks

No horseplay on rocks

Never step on the rope

You will be tied off to an adequate anchor anytime you are within 3 feet of the edge of cliff

Always wear a helmet

I am aware that this activity entails risks, injury or possibly death to myself. I agree to assume all responsibility for these and other risks not specifically identified. I release The City of Coalmont, Coalmont Fire Department, and any of their volunteers who are helping with this event from any and all liability. This agreement shall be binding upon myself, my heirs, assigns, personal representative, estate and for all members of my family.
