- c. Discuss the water leak at E. Decatur St. and Walnut St.

Larry: I got Shannon here to present what they found. They found a water leak on Walnut St. and Decatur St. They think the leak is under the railroad track.

Shannon and Tyler discussed and explained the leak:

- Clear water was found running into a stormwater catch basin. The water main runs north and south under the railroad on the east side of Walnut. No leaks were found by the water main. The railroad watchers said they were losing ballast rock on the other side of the tracks, and they had drain tiles running under the tracks. The leak must be under the tracks. A railroad boring permit is required to repair the leak. Shannon was contacted to assist with the project and permit application.
- Shannon asked B&T to give a quote for boring a steel incasement boring under a railroad and replace 365 feet of old cast iron main to Washington St. at a total of $39,850. The quote is for a steel encasement bore and then boring six inch all the way up to Washington Street, doing the tie ins, reconnecting the services. It does not include any restoration, no road repair or clean up seeding and mulching.
- The application fee to apply for a railroad permit is $1,500 to $2,500. The permit will cost $8,000 to $10,000. If approved, the City has to pay a licensure fee for that crossing, which could be as much as 4 to 5 grand. We will have to pay for a RR flagman while the work's being done to monitor the rail while we're working within the railroad require distance from the rails.
- West of Van Buren St., the City has 5 water mains under the railroad. The main under West End Ave is capped until the railroad begins their West End Ave. crossing repairs which the railroad has allowed the City to piggybacked on to save money. Capping another water main could have an effect on the pressure, volume and quality of the public water supply which are heath and fire protection concerns.
- A consensus was given to Connor & Connor to start the Railroad application process.

Harris: Gayle asked me, since she's not here, to thank everyone for the help for the Strong Girls Run Street Department, for mowing and fixing the potholes, the police department for helping with traffic. And she said, everything went great. Explained to the council that she has reviewed and approved the billing adjustment report.

City Attorney: "Dave, I think your committee needs to do some work to assist us. We're going to adopt the 2015 International Residential Code. And I have the old statute to the old one. Last time we adopted it, there were some changes made in the book that I think your committee needs to review to see if we're going to make the same changes. So, I brought you a copy of that, and I don't know if you've had a chance to look at this or not. There's three of them."

"Let me just pass this down. This is the portion of the ordinance that I've copied for you to look at with this code and then tell me if we're doing the same thing or adjustments need to be made, then I can make the ordinance out of it. That's all I have."
