

in & out & inbetween

OH GOD NO!!! Even in Beverly Hills California land of excess where nothing is over the top when it comes to clothes, hair and make up—even here in the land of ‘plenty of’ where artistic expression runs rampant—even this is over the top. So it’s def a must-watch! Get ready for WELL GROOMED an insider look at the world of competitive dog grooming. WELL GROOMED travels the humorous and stunning world of competitive dog grooming, and the women who transform their beloved poodles into living sculptures are revolutionizing the age old question: Is art in the eye of the beholder?

WHAT THE HELL??? Florida man was charged with driving under the influence after he crashed his four-wheel LAWN MOWER pulling a cart containing a cooler of “refreshing drinks” into a police car. Police said after they arrested 68-year-old Gary Wayne Anderson that he accused police of poisoning him with cocaine and asked to be taken to a hospital. Anderson’s blood-alcohol level registered .241 more than three times the legal limit and he had cocaine in his system. It wasn’t his first DUI arrest and his license to drive had been revoked since 1978.

TIRED OF FIGHTING WITH YOUR SPOUSE IN THE PRIVACY OF YOUR HOME? Get ready to rumble in front of an audience. That’s right. Offer your troubled marriage up for public consumption and show millions just how big of a jackass you and your significant other really are. Paramount Network is casting married couples whose marriages are on the rocks for a TV show. Had it with your partner? Marriage falling apart? You and your mate fight more than you laugh? This is the audition for you. Squabbling couples travel to resort destinations to break the routine and are presented with all the tools they need to save their marriage. Win or lose—it’s a free vacation. Email quick. Tick Tock. Casting@tikicasting.com

COME ON... REALLY??? Scotland police answered a 911 emergency call from Bruce Grubb, a farmer who was checking on his pregnant cows, and got the fright of his life when he saw a tiger stretched out on the grass close to the cows. An armed police unit of vehicles hurried to the farm and stood their positions to fight off the wild animal in what became an armed 45-minute standoff. Finally, Grubb got in his truck and drove up to the man-eating tiger to try and scare it away, but instead of coming face to face with a ferocious beast he came face to face with a stuffed animal. Grubb returned to the police with the toy in his truck. How did the stuffed tiger get there? Embarrassed, Grubb’s best answer: It was some sort of a joke. Damn those cows!

40 FROZEN PIRANHAS & THE CHEF SAY WHAT??? How do we explain that a famous South American chef reported he was stopped as he brought 40 piranhas in a duffel bag through LAX? Impossible to imagine so we checked it out. YES it happened. Virgilio Martinez, owner of Central restaurant in Peru, told the LA Times he was to serve the predatory, sharp-toothed fish during an LA food festival. In the third season of the Netflix show “Chef’s Table” Martinez was featured for his culinary expertise so it makes sense he was pulled aside at LAX for dragging frozen piranhas along for the trip. Martinez explained how customs agents took him into an interrogation room when they discovered the cache of frozen, vacuum-sealed piranhas. After five hours, the agents let Martinez and the fish go. The Times says the following night he dried the piranha skins and served them inside the piranha heads. YUM YUM???

Special Editions

