

NEED SUPPORT AT HOME?

Palliative care can help.

People with serious illness may find it harder today to get needed care and treatment. Home-based palliative care can fill the gap.

PALLIATIVE CARE MEANS MORE GOOD DAYS

Working with a person's current medical providers, the Palliative Nurse Practitioner supports individuals with serious or ongoing illness at home. Palliative support includes:

- Managing pain and other difficult symptoms
- Planning for life around care and treatment
- Supporting family caregivers, easing the stress associated with serious illness.

What we hear most from families is:
"We wish we'd found you sooner."
