

AFF Dedicated weeks. Monday to Friday

AFF is designed to be completed within a short timeframe so we can accelerate the learning process.

In 4 jumping days (Monday is spent in the classroom) there is no reason why you cannot complete all 8 AFF levels and some consolidation jumps. 3/4 jumps a day means that by the end of the week you are a few jumps away from gaining your 'A' licence. Once you have this licence you are qualified to jump by yourself without supervision from an instructor. You can then start working towards additional qualifications.

However, any jumping is weather dependent so we cannot guarantee anything, but the potential is there if you are prepared to commit yourself.

We are open for jumping 6 days a week (Tues-Sun) between April and October and jumping takes place everyday weather permitting. We have AFF instructors available everyday but during our dedicated weeks we have extra ones available just to look after you.

During the week we can also teach you packing which is a vital skill to learn in order to be able to continue in the sport.

If you are unlucky with the weather, then any money paid stays in your account and can be used when you are able to return.

Why not come and stay for the week, we have accommodation on site or various local B and Bs.

Packages

Basic £1525 - Ground Training and Level 1 to 8 (8 jumps)

Advanced £1975 – Ground Training, level 1 to 8 and consolidation jumps (18 jumps)

What is included -BPA membership, an altimeter and logbook, flights, which are sold separately, further training and all equipment hire.

What is not included - any repeat jumps, food or accommodation.

Your commitment to us, you pay £250 to secure your preferred week and the balance is payable on the Monday. You agree to be here every day from 8.30 Monday morning until jumping finishes for the day on Friday.

Our commitment to you is to have instructors available to give you quality training and coaching, progress you and get you as many jumps as possible during the week.

Any money paid is non refundable but will stay in your account if not used during the week due to weather. You may come to the centre any day after to continue your training and jumping.
