Queen Elizabeth Hospital Birmingham is the city's first new acute hospital for 70 years. It admitted its first patients on 16 June 2010 and offers the best in care thanks to a purpose-built environment and the latest technological advances.

The Midlands Burn Centre for adults is based at QEHB.

Queen Elizabeth Hospital Birmingham (QEHB), which is run by University Hospitals Birmingham NHS Foundation Trust (UHB), is recognised as one of the leading hospitals in Europe and has an international reputation for quality of care, informatics/IT, clinical training and research.

QEHB provides direct clinical services to nearly 800,000 patients every year, serving a regional, national and international population. It is a regional centre for cancer, trauma, renal dialysis, burns and plastics, and has the largest solid organ transplantation programme in Europe. The Trust has the largest kidney programme in the UK, is a major specialist centre for burns and plastic surgery, and neurosciences, and has a specialist cancer centre.

UHB provides a series of highly specialist cardiac, liver, oncology and neurosurgery services to patients from across the UK. QEHB is world-renowned for its trauma care and has developed pioneering surgical techniques in the management of ballistic and blast injuries, including bespoke surgical solutions for previously unseen injuries. As a result of its clinical expertise in treating trauma patients and military casualties, QEHB has been designated both a Level 1 Trauma Centre and host of the UK's only £20m National Institute for Health Research (NIHR) Surgical Reconstruction and Microbiology Research Centre (SRMRC).

University Hospitals Birmingham NHS Foundation Trust (UHB) is the supra-regional centre providing adult burn care for the West and East Midlands. It is supported by a Burns Unit at Queen's Medical Centre, Nottingham and a Burns Facility at Leicester Royal Infirmary. Paediatric burns care and surgery takes place at Birmingham Children's Hospital. Adult Burns Service is provided in a 15-bedded Centre. This includes 7 heated shock rooms, 4 isolation rooms and 2 two bedded rooms. The Burns theatre and Critical care unit are adjacent to the Burns Centre
