

DORIEN CARROLL – MODERN & JAZZ

INSTRUCTOR (RECREATIONAL)

Dorien Carroll is a choreographer, dance instructor, and music producer from Baltimore Maryland. His training expands in various styles such as Classical/Contemporary Ballet, Modern, Jazz, Lyrical, Musical Theater, and more. Dorien was introduced to dance at age 11 when he joined the Ava Fields Dance Company/Ministry. He gained most of his classical training from The Baltimore School for the Arts. Dorien has worked with numerous choreographers and performed well-known work such as Martha Graham's "Appalachian Spring", George Balanchine's "Who Cares", and many more. Dorien is working to receive his Associate of Fine Arts Degree in Dance. Although Dorien loves to create in all genres of dance, He has a strong passion for Jazz and creating fun choreography. Above all, Dorien believes that any and everyone is able to find an escape through Dance. He is looking forward to sharing knowledge with all of his students.