What is Care Trak?

Care Trak is a program that issues bracelets which emit a radio frequency to help Oklahoma City Police officers to electronically locate at-risk people who have wandered off or gone missing. Care Trak has been used nationally since 1986, and with it thousands of missing persons have been located.

Care Trak bracelets look similar to a watch, can be worn on a wrist or ankle and are meant to be worn 24 hours a day. They are waterproof and include a thick band which can only be removed by a caregiver.

In the event your loved one goes missing, call the Oklahoma City Police Department to report the missing person and tell the dispatcher that he or she is wearing a Care Trak Bracelet.
