this product will be an enhancement to SLA Idaho and for brokers who do business in the Gem State. InsCipher's commitment to data security and their track record of minimal downtime was a key factor in our decision."

Brokers who have filed surplus lines in Utah might find Idaho's user portal familiar. InsCipher is currently the filing software provider for the Surplus Lines Association of Utah (www.slaut.org) and has been actively creating surplus lines solutions since 2016. Having gone through state site launches before, InsCipher is confident the software release will be a smooth transition from SLA Idaho's current site, and brokers will have all the information, resources, and historical data needed to continue filing with minimal disruption in processes.

Referring to the partnership, InsCipher Vice President Daniel Steadman stated, "InsCipher is proud to partner with the Surplus Line Association of Idaho. We are excited to apply our innovative solutions to enhance broker user experiences. At InsCipher, our goal is to make surplus lines filing management less complicated—and even enjoyable—by providing thoughtful solutions to both states and agencies. We believe this partnership helps achieve that goal."

This site launch is scheduled for October 1, 2020. Prior to the launch, InsCipher will host webinars and training sessions on the new system. In the coming weeks, Idaho resident and non-resident brokers will receive direct emails addressing migration and setup of their new account in the InsCipher/SLA-Idaho filing platform. Additionally, the InsCipher team will actively field questions from users before the official site launch.
