

Nasra Giama., DNP, RN, PHN

Dr. Nasra Giama received her Bachelors of Science in Nursing (BSN) in 2007 and Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP) in 2013, both from the University of Minnesota. She also completed the multidisciplinary Leadership Education in Adolescent Health (LEAH) Fellowship in the U of M's Department of Pediatric and Adolescent Health in 2013.

Dr. Nasra Giama is Clinical Assistant Professor at the University Of Minnesota, School Of Nursing. She is also a research coordinator at the department of Gastroenterology and Hepatology, Mayo Clinic. Dr. Nasra Giama previously served (2011-2014) as the prenatal care nurse with Somali CARES for pregnant women visiting at Mayo Clinic. In addition, Dr. Nasra Giama worked as a public health nurse at Olmsted county public health Services, working closely with schools and minority communities to provide health promotion and prevention programming.

Dr. Nasra Giama's research focuses on Health disparities related to viral hepatitis and liver disease; Adolescent health; and Refugee and immigrant health.

Dr. Giama's academic publications

<http://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pubmed/?term=Nasra+Giama>