From the Pastor...

December is always a busy time and this year will be no exception. We are doing one more lock-in with the youth for confirmation on Dec. 3. Also that day, I will be hosting a Via de Cristo team planning meeting, in preparation for a retreat in mid February. If you have ever wanted to spend 3.5 days immersed in God's grace, come and talk to me about Via de Cristo (the Way of Christ).

We will have our annual Christmas dinner and I am sure there will be more about that in this newsletter.

Christmas day is a Sunday this year and we will gather for worship on that day. We plan to do one service at 10 am. It will be an abbreviated communion service and I would suggest that we come as we are. Pajamas and robe is okay, or comfy Christmas duds. We will sing a couple of carols, confess, receive forgiveness, and partake of communion.

New Years day will also be one service of lessons and carols with communion at 10 am.

Christmas Eve will be our regular three services: 4 pm a children's shortened service, 7 pm with lots of music, and 10 pm.

One thing I want to talk about in December is getting some of our young adult members together for a meal and a time of fellowship. I will be reaching out to visitors and members alike to plan an event in mid-December.

I want to give a special word of thanks to the finance committee and the stewardship committee for all their hard work this year. Special thanks also to the Duke Lutherans for planning and presenting Advent worship.

I also want to remind you to begin writing your annual report, if you work on a committee or some group within the church.

God's peace as we move into the season of Advent and Christmas.

Pastor Scott

From the Vicar...

The Reign of Christ is quickly approaching, and the Church's annual cycle will begin anew. I am a church nerd, and so I tend to organize my life by the Church's seasons instead of the Gregorian calendar. This means that as November 20th draws near, I find myself doing a lot of end-of-the-year reflection.

In Advent, I pondered sin and hope. I read Advent: The Once and Future Coming of Jesus Christ by Episcopal priest Fleming Rutledge. Her collection of sermons spoke to me as I navigated my dear friend's illness and took a crash course in cholangiocarcinoma. "Advent is not for the faint of heart," Rutledge says. I kept vigil with my homemade wreath, watching the light grow as nights lengthened. How did Advent candles warm you during this season?

I celebrated Christmas with a congregation founded in 1762. I told them that under no circumstances were we going to burn down the building while I was their supply preacher. We laughed, and sang carols, and I actually preached on the lesson for Christmas 1, which never happens. I made cinnamon and orange ornaments for my tree, so that my apartment smelled like my mother's Christmas tea for the twelve days of Christmas. What celebrations did you enjoy?

At Epiphany, I did not chalk my door, because my friend was sick. The season after Epiphany the Church began reading about discipleship. I designed and began an independent study about how the Church defines "human," and what implications that definition has for the care for and inclusion of persons with dementia within the congregation. I grappled with questions about sin and empathy, about terms like "inhuman" and "dehumanizing," and what it means to be made in God's image. How do you see God shaping you into God's image?

I don't remember much about Lent, except that on March 22nd I discovered that I would be your intern. It was a lovely evening with many friends and good food, and a giant packet of information all about you all! What surprises did you enjoy?

Easter and the season thereafter were a blur of pulpit supply, work, school, and taking care of my friend. I anticipated graduation, and moving, and summer employment. I preached on Easter Sunday for a tiny, 110-year-old congregation in rural South Carolina. They had five people. It was a huge crowd for them – they usually have two. Preaching on Easter was another first for me, and the small group was so happy to have someone with them. Who received you with joy this season?

Then came Pentecost and the Ordinary Time of discipleship training. I spent a week in Alabama at my synod's camp for young people grades 6 through second year out of high school. I taught first- and second-year college students about how to lead small groups. I sat with them as they wept for friends lost by suicide, for eating disorders and anxiety disorders that they are just figuring out how to manage, and for the shame they feel for never being good enough. It was holy and heartbreaking work to accompany these young people, some of whom I've known since their middle school years. How does your discipleship journey intersect with and advocate for vulnerable populations?

I joined you in August, and we've been walking this discipleship journey together ever since. My friend died in September, and my last act for her was planning her funeral and giving her eulogy. I walked her home, then I came back to you. I am learning your stories, individually and as a community. I am growing into my identity as your vicar. I am watching you all wrestle with important and challenging questions, again individually and as a community. As the Church year comes to a close, I am curious: how do you see yourselves growing in Christ?

In peace,
Vicar Amanda

Music Ministry

The choir, in conjunction with the Mallarme Chamber players and guest soloists, will be presenting the cantata Und da die Engel von ihnen gen Himmel fuhren, by Georg Philipp Telemann (1681-1767) at the 7:00 pm service on Christmas eve. This piece was transcribed by our music director, Ted Turner, from the handwritten facsimile found in the archives of the library of the Goethe-Universitat in Frankfurt. There will also be a brief, 30 minute concert prior to this service, consisting of carols, organ music, and chamber music.

Make Ready for Holy Disruption: A Contemplative Advent Midweek Series

Wednesdays: Nov 30, Dec. 7, 14, 21

6:00 pm Fellowship Dinner (soups, salad, bread)

7:00 pm Worship

Advent carries expectations for two events: as we wait for the birth of the babe in Bethlehem, we also await the time when Christ will come again to make a new heaven and new earth. Christ's coming brings peace

... but also disruption of the sin, injustice, and brokenness that burdens our lives and our world. When we pray for Christ to come, we are praying for a holy disruption of the status quo of death and the revealing of God's kingdom of life.

Led by the Duke Lutherans, our midweek Advent series this year is built around four steps to help us prepare for God's holy disruption: breathing, releasing, receiving, and rejoicing. Each week's liturgy (consisting of prayer and silence, singing, listening, and reflection) will focus on one step. Together, the steps will remind us that discipleship is always a process and journey. As we worship, we will ask the Holy Spirit to open our eyes so that we might see all of the ways that God promises to come and will come into the world.

Stir up your power, Lord Christ, and come!

Preschool Pitter Patter

by Amanda Stoen

At the preschool, we enjoyed gathering together again during the month of November. The preschool classes and their families shared meals together and enjoyed delicious food. We talked about who and what we are thankful – our family, friends, teachers, mud cakes, the trees and dinosaurs!

In November, our preschool collected items and made shoebox gifts for Operation Christmas Child. We have also been collecting dry pasta for the Parktown Food Hub. Our children have been learning about ways to help our local community and the world. Small donations can make a big difference!

Please enjoy a few photos from our youngest class – the Parents' Morning Out class! These children are 10-23 months when they begin in the fall and they are learning to be away from their caregivers for the very first time. The children have settled in very well and love to explore with all of their senses. Our teachers provide many open-ended sensory experiences for them to explore independently and in small groups.

Children learn through their play and they must learn to play. There is so much learning that takes place during sensory experiences by exploring textures, manipulating items and scents. When a child explores the world through their senses, they develop fine motor skills, gross motor skills, language abilities and self-confidence. While sensory play definitely is based on the body's senses, there are also the vestibular and proprioception senses that provide input to a child.

A Look at the Art of Advent

The Advent Season is all about reflecting on how we can prepare our hearts and homes for Christ's birth in the world as it is today.

This Advent at St. Paul's, Art Historian Janet Seiz will present four consecutive sessions during the morning Adult Education featuring all of these things. Each session will highlight a comparison between a "classic" and a "contemporary" work of art related to a specific event in the Christmas story. Aspects of the creative process and the Artist's use of technique and materials will be covered as well as the development and use of symbols. Each class will open and close with a short video blending Advent art and music together.

Abide in Love: Duke Lutherans 2022 Annual Campaign

At the heart of who we are and what we do as a campus ministry stands this verb: abide.

In the words of 1 John, God is Love, and as we seek to abide (dwell, sojourn, live) together with students in love, we believe that God also abides in them and in our campus community of faith.

For over 80 years now, with the help of God's grace, we have abided with students in love, in hope and faith, learning and growth, in compassion, justice, and service.

And through it all, you have abided with us too. Whenever you pray for students, feed them, encourage them, listen to their stories, and support us with your generous financial gifts, you abide together with us in God's unfailing love.

Now through December 31, we invite you to give to the Abide in Love campaign. Please prayerfully consider the amount you can give (either as a one-time gift or each month as a sustaining giver).

It's simple to support the Duke Lutherans!

- ◆ Go online to www.gifts.duke.edu/ to make a one-time gift or set-up a recurring gift.
- ◆ Or make your check payable to Duke Lutherans and place it in the offering or mail it to: St. Paul's: 1200 W Cornwallis Rd, Durham, NC 27705.
- ◆ Consider making a lasting legacy gift to the Duke Lutherans through your QCD (Qualified Charitable Distributions) through your IRA, or through your will, trust, or estate.

Please consider making a gift to the Abide in Love campaign before the end of the year.

On behalf of our current students and all those we hope to abide with in the future, thank you!

In Peace and Gratitude
Pastor Amanda

Memories of Seth are real. We went through lives' thorns together.

We ate and drank together.

We had walks together.

We sang and listened to music we loved together.

We read the Word and prayed together.

The loss still stings, but Seth is in a better place in glory with Jesus.

Glory Be To God!

We had a great time at Oktoberfest, on October 19.

We had about 118 people in attendance, enjoying such great foods as bratwurst, sauerbraten, Spaetzel, Black Forest Cake, Apple Strudel and lots of German side dishes. Many thanks to all who assisted with the preparation, serving, and clean up from this meal. We also thank the "Rusty Pipes" for beginning our celebration with rousing music. So glad you could join us for the evening.

More photos will be posted on our website.

We had a marvelous time at our Trunk or Treat on October 28. There were about 70 people participating between 6 and 7 pm, going around collecting treats from uniquely decorated cars. There will be photos posted on our website but here are a couple teasers.
