Story & Toddler Time

Story and Toddler Time started off with some bitter cold weather this January!

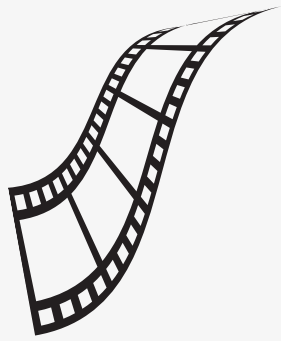

The kids come in all bundled up and bright eyed ready to play (it's super cute)! We hadn't seen them in a little over a month and it was such a long time without them! The library was in that state of slow and sporadically busy. Jane missed the kids so much she took to meow-yelling at everyone the second they walked in the door. Especially to the staff.

Now that we're started back up, we're ready to dive on in, despite the snow! We're going to stay toasty warm inside with all of our friends. We learned about the Winter season right before the first storm hit. Then we talked about snow right before the second storm hit.

We don't know about you, but seeing all the excited smiling faces talk about the snow outside makes us a little giddy, too.

It's winter after all, we'll make it a little longer in the trenches of the season!
