LET'S WARM UP!

Open your sketchbook!

Start by holding your pencil in your hand and rotating your wrist 10 times each direction!

Now let's hold out our arm and rotate from the shoulder - count to ten!

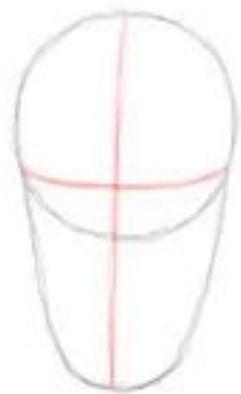

Last week we looked at cartoons. This week we will revisit our technique of lines, shapes, value, scale and texture and create the 12 animals of the Chinese Calendar!

Start with...

Ox - 牛 (丑)

2009, 1997, 1985, 1973, 1961

The ox or cow represents hard work and diligence in the Chinese zodiac. People born in the Year of the Ox are said to be determined and honest, if a little stubborn!

This eye-catching sculpture by the contemporary Korean artist Yong Meon Kang pays homage to the ox's wisdom, as well as the hard work and sacrifices he makes for mankind. Here the ox's entire body is created with symbols of human culture - like airplanes and cars.

BREAK TIME!!

Take a 10 minute break to shake it out, stretch, use the restroom, or grab a snack -

See you at 3:20

Let's do another one! Start with...

Rabbit – 兔 (卯)

2011, 1999, 1987, 1975, 1963

Each zodiac animal has a series of different lucky symbols, colors and numbers. For example, the rabbit's lucky dates are the 26th, 27th and 29th of every Chinese lunar month; their lucky flowers are plantain lily, and jasmine; and their lucky colors are red, pink, purple, blue!

Within the zodiac, the rabbit is said to represent elegance and alertness, both of which can be seen in this very elegant incense box featuring an alert-looking rabbit, dating from the mid 17th century.

THANK YOU FOR COMING TO LESSON 15!

SEE YOU NEXT WEEK!
