

In the current court system the court gets a finders fee directly from the UST for finding a previously undiscovered asset in the bankruptcy of the USA corp 1933 in the form of perfected bonds written under the Miller Act which is a bid bond a performance bond and a reissuance bond. In the UST website you will find the SLGS program and there is a chart that covers 15 days to 40 years. When a case is filed by a BAR attorney the court clerk goes into the UST back office and the court gets paid a percentage of the commercial value of the bonds the judge must perfect or refund the money.
